Friday 10 October, 10am - 5pm

Kings Hall, Stoke-on-Trent, ST4 1JH

Are you new to the extraordinary world of bamboo or already working with this incredibly strong and flexible grass?

Join the 2025 UK Bamboo Summit in Stoke-on-Trent for a unique multi-disciplinary conversation about one of the most important sustainable materials on the planet and how we can accelerate its use in the UK.

The UK Bamboo Summit brings together international specialists, entrepreneurs, engineers, architects, academics, artists and environmental leaders to imagine and plan the future of bamboo in the UK and build new partnerships for innovation, advocacy and engagement. Highlights include Brilliant Bamboo's pop-up brownfield Bamboo Parklet; plans for the UK's first prototype Bamboo House; inspirational case studies and insights into how bamboo contributes to the UN Sustainability Goals, all within the wider context of climate adaptation and a net zero future.

Contributors include: Professor Neil Thomas MBE and Chris Matthews, Atelier One; Carlos Ruiz Garvia, United Nations; Orit Azaz, Imagine Bamboo; Jennifer Synders, House of Bamboo & Bamboo Society of Australia; Gareth Snell MP; Colin Knight, Coventry City Council; Franziska Clifton, Sir Harold Hillier Gardens; Gemma Thomas, Brilliant Bamboo; James Marr, Bamboo Bicycle Club
